

What possible benefit to the American people (as opposed to large corporations) could lifting the restrictions on station ownership provide. If the will of the American people means anything to you please take note that I and virtually everyone I know, is against any changes to the current system.